

Conclusions from the Study of the Electron

Cathode rays have identical properties regardless of element used

Atoms are neutral

Electrons have very little mass compared to the atom's mass

Conclusions from the Study of the Electron

Cathode rays have identical properties regardless of element used

Atoms are neutral

Electrons have very little mass compared to the atom's mass

Conclusions from the Study of the Electron

Cathode rays have identical properties regardless of element used

Atoms are neutral

Electrons have very little mass compared to the atom's mass

Conclusions from the Study of the Electron

Cathode rays have identical properties regardless of element used

Atoms are neutral

Electrons have very little mass compared to the atom's mass

Conclusions from the Study of the Electron

Cathode rays have identical properties regardless of element used

Atoms are neutral

Electrons have very little mass compared to the atom's mass

Conclusions from the Study of the Electron

Cathode rays have identical properties regardless of element used

Atoms are neutral

Electrons have very little mass compared to the atom's mass